October 14th, 1901. INFORMATION WANTED.

In last week's issue of the Maple Leaf an article appeared which proved conclusively that editor Green must recently have been engaged in the exasperating job of putting stovepipes together. A young man contemplating marriage and who wishes to have a good idea of the trials of housekeeping would like the said editor to an swer to the following questions next week: How many lengths of stovepipe did you ruin during the operation? To what extent did you injure your boots while kick ing said lengths? How many and what kind of words not found in a Christian vocabulary did you make use of during the time? How many of your children were cry-ing? How long did your wife not speak to you after the event? How long did your dog not come out of his hiding place afterwards? How did you account to your neighbors for the unseemly row heard in

[That list of questions gives you away, Rusty Cuss. You never could have asked so accurately if you had'nt been at the "exasperating job" (your own term) of putting together stovepipes yourself. refuse to answer your questions; we don't want to ruin the matrimonial market!—ED.]

Oct. 14th, 1991. On Saturday last Newton's base ball aggregation journeyed to our burg, fully equipped and with "blood in their eyes," bent upon revenge for the defeat they suffered at the hands of our boys a week ago, or, failing in that, the utter annihilation of somebody or some thing by some means or other. The weather was all that could be de sired for some time after dinner but shortly after the game commenced, as our boys were making a glorious lead, the clerk of the ther became dissatisfied and a pelting rain forced spectators and all to seek shelter. After about half an hour, however, the game was continued and a desperate bat-tle raged until the end of five inthe raged until the end or ave in-nings when it was thought advisa-ble to stop, it being so late in the evening, notwithstanding the fact that the honors were equally shar-ed, each side having scored twelve runs. To say that the game was interesting would be far from expressing the true state of affairs, as the enthusiasm ran so high that we are sorry to say, at times there ap-peared to be half-a-dozen umpires all knowing the very latest rules and determined to have judgment given according to their respective We are not finding fault with any one in particular, but we do think that an umpire who is placed in charge of a game should be allowed to judge for himself, to give and maintain his decisions without fear or favor, and to set at naught any who may endeavor to brow-beat and bulldoze in order to gain for his side all favors possible Despite the excessive amount of "chewing" the best of good will prevailed at the end of the prevailed at the end of the game and our friends soon forgotall their Messrs. Miss J. Petch, who but recently returned from the northwest, gave an interesting address at Millbank on Thursday. She dealt with the manners and customs of the In-dians, among whom she has been laboring for the last few years.

We had the pleasure of beholding Mr. Green, of the Maple Leaf, and Mrs. Green admiring our rustic and beautiful line of trees that adorn the Main street. These renowned beauties are now clothed in their funciful garb of many colors and present a striking appearance not seen every day. These trees seem to find untiring pleasure in rearing their noble and massive heads, probably to attract attention to their glorious autumn suits, like the ladies with their new fall hats on Sunday.

It is a new sight and a delightful one to see the little boys and girls, and even the big grown-ups, too, scrambling amongst the leaves for beech-nuts; and if anyone desires anything in the line of gracefulness, why just make yourself one of the happy party.

Jacob Hoffmann, an expert horse-nan, was in the village last week, on his regular trip attending to the needs of horses teeth. We under stand he is working in the vicinity

LISBON.

October 14th, 1901.

The death of William, son of Mr.

Conrad Kneisel, of this place, oc curred on Saturday afternoon last, aged 16 years. The young man had been in ill health for a long time but latterly had shown signs of permanent improvement. On Saturday morning he enjoyed a short walk out doors, and there was no indication of the collapse which was so soon to come. In the afternoon, however, he suddenly took a very serious turn for the worse and expired in a few hours. The funeral occurred on Tuesday last and was attended by a large con-course of people who gathered to give expression to their respect and sympathy for the bereaved family. Fall plowing and gathering in the root crops are occupying the at-tention of our farmers these days. A good collie dog strayed onto the farm of Mr. Fred Ehnes the other day and is still there waiting for the owner to turn up. Beech-nuts are now plentiful.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Duke and Duchess have about finished their Canadian trip. Like a meteor they flashed across the continent leaving a trail of gor geousness and pomp behind them which will not soon be forgotten. Personally they made numberless friends and when the time comes that they shall sit upon the throne, thousands of British subjects will be the more loyal for having caught a fleeting glimpse of them as they flashed across the Empire.

It has been finally decided that a beet sugar factory shall be estab-lished at Baden. The wealthy American company who have taken hold of the matter are fully organnote of the matter are truly organized and have, we understand, given their order for an immense amount of machinery already. Baden has given them a tract of nearly 40 acres of land near the woollen mill upon which to erect their works, and operations are to be commenced in the spring. The section north of Baden is deeply interested in this enterprise, as the soil in this this enterprise, as the soil in this section is among the very best in Canada for raising sugar beets. As it is the intention of the company to put in a plant capable of using 1,000 tons of beets per day and run it at a rate of at least 500 tons per day, it can easily be seen that an immense acreage will require to be sown to meet this enormous consumption for at least four months of each year. As the company com-mands great wealth, it is not unlikely that short spurs of electric railway will be extended from Ba-den to speedily deliver the beets at the factory. The matter will be more fully discussed as the winter

The question is frequently being asked, Why do the common jails of the country continue to be the per-manent refuge of so many lunatics? Hardly a jail in the country but contains one or more helpless ones, who should get better treat-ment than it is possible to give them in a jail. Chancellor Boyd, in his in a jail. Chancellor Boyd, in his charge to the grand jury at Sarnia the other day, commented on this state of affairs. The lunatics are in jail pending their admission to an asylum, but the asylums are full. He thinks there is not any increase in insanity, but that while the records formally here with their the people formerly bore with their insane and kept them at home, they now prefer to get them into the public asylums, where they receive better care. But the county jail better care. But the county jails not an asylum, and the condition of lunatics so confined is sometimes deplorable. The Provincial government has done much for these poor unfortunates, but it must do yet more for them

Six prisoners served under 30 days, 9 from 30 to 60 days, 5 spent two months in jail, 6 three months, 1 four months, 16 six months, 4 one year, 2 two years and two over two years.

Two were acquitted on trial in County Judge's criminal court and five were found guilty.

The government defrayed the cost of 27 prisoners and the muni cipalities 60. The total number of government prisoners' days was 443; of municipality provided priseners, 1527. Of these prisoners 49 were Canadians, 10 English, 6 Irish, 4 United States, and 18 other na-tionalities. There were 31 Roman Catholics, 16 Church of England, 6 Presbyterians 8 Methodists and 26

Thirty-five of the wrong-doers were married, 52 not; 7 could neither read nor write; 42 were intemperate and 45 temperate.

The total expenses for food, clothing, fuel, gas and water was$689.02; the officials' salaries $1275. The cost of rations daily per prisoner was only 8 1-6 cents. This is a shade higher than last year owing to the larger number of lunatics this year, who require special pro-visions.

The offenses which lodged the prisoners behind the bars were many. Five were assaults, 2 abductions, 3 aggravated assaults, 3 contempt of court, 1 ——, 3 debtors, 4 drunk and disorderly, 2 false pretenses, 2 horse stealing, 2 inde-cent exposure, 17 theft, 5 insanity, 2 shooting with intent, 27 vagrancy and 9 other offences.

Among the number there were 3 agents, 3 barbers, 1 bar tender, 1 shoemaker, 9 boys under age, 1 cabinet maker, 2 carpenters, 1 carriage maker, 1 cigar maker, 2 clerks, 2 coopers, 3 machinests, 20 laborers 1 stone cutter, 3 moulders, 2 porters, 3 pedlars, 1 servant, 1 tailor, 1 groom, 1 tinsmith, 2 weavers, 10 er occupations, 4 no occupation.

> The large street lump at the Roy-al Hotel corner is manifesting itself to excellent advantage these dark nights. If some more of our enterprising citizens were to follow Mr Kreutzwieser's example and place a few lamps in some of the prominent "dark places," meeting the running expense by contributions from the citizens, the move would be appreciated not only by the lage population, but by those in the country who have occasion to drive to our village in the evening to have their wants supplied.

While passing through the country recently a Maple Leaf representative noticed in the vicinity of Amulree a mark of modern ent prise well worthy of imitation, being a handsome new woven wire gate leading to a farm house, to gate leading to a farm house, to which gate was attached a small board bearing the words, in neatly formed letters, "Dan Koch." If the farmers as a whole in Wellesley and adjoining townships were to follow Mr. Koch's example, adding also the names of their farms, as department of the ware our township contests to then were our township councils to place concession posts at the principal road corners, it would not only aid in beautifying our district-for the eyes of visitors from a dis-tance, but it would enhance the already high values of land in this rich section.
