This is the greatest combination offer ever made by any Canadian journal, and we are fortunate in securing the exclusive privilege for this district. The Daily Herald is one of Canada's great papers. Established in 1901, it has long been the best light paper of Eastern Canada. It is now a great family newspaper each day giving full news of the world, and also devoting much space to matters of peculiar interest to the family. Its commercial intelligence is complete and up to date.
THE KING'S PORTRAIT is the best ever produced in Canada, and will make a handsome addition to the walls of any library. It is produced by a new process, and is not one of the flimsy portrait papers so common.
As the regular price of The Herald is $3.00 a year, the liberality of our offer is self-evident.

ABOUT GREHM'S FLATS.

LETTER FROM COUNTY COUNCILLOR FERDINAND WALTER.

Editor Maple Leaf,—I noticed a few weeks ago a motion passed by the North Easthope council in which my name was mentioned as a possible contractor to enter into and sign an agreement to complete the proposed work in a permanent and satisfactory manner. 2.—That the road be built with stone and earth clear above high water when and after the road is completed. 3.—That the council will not hold themselves liable for any possible damage that may arise from the proposed work, such as the flooding of lands and the depositing of logs and rubbish.

In the Maple Leaf of the 16th October I see that Wellesley township council passed the same resolution, and I feel now to say a few words in reply.

In both these resolutions it reads—"County Councillor Walter." Every county councillor, reeve and councillor, before he can take office, must sign a declaration that he will not enter into a contract, and not receive any money from the municipality. I am in office over 37 years, and can any ratepayer say I ever took a contract? What I stated (to Mr. J. G. Reiner) was that for $350 the work at Grehm's flats could, or would, be done if let by contract. But I say now that no contractor with common sense would enter into or sign a contract on the above conditions.

The Wellesley council did grant $200 on Wallenstein hill and flats, in the very same state as Grehm's flats, and without any condition for contractor to guarantee work for time to come. The only difference is that the grant of $200 leads to a market out of the township, and the $75 grant would bring farmers to Wellesley village market. Why did not the council of Wellesley grant $200 on Grehm's hill and flats when $75 was granted by the small township of North Easthope?

The Act says that all bridges on roads in the township in boundary lines and in incorporated villages, over 100 feet in length, and the approaches 100 feet in length on both sides, shall be maintained by the county council. How is it that they blame me for it that the said piece of road is not finished. I feel sure that if both townships make fair grants, then call on both county councils for reasonable grants, that the county councils will take the matter into consideration and would appoint a committee to inspect and report on same.

I have worked over fifty years on roads in the township in the best of my abilities to the advantage of Wellesley, and I feel now to thank the Wellesley council for the offer they make to an old servant to bind myself for a lifetime, and to give satisfaction—to whom?
Yours truly,
F. WALTER.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM MR. ANDREW AXT.

Under date of Oct. 14th, Mr. Axt writes his second letter to the Maple Leaf from Melita, Man.:

I left Brandon for Melita, pulling in at 9 p. m. Next morning, the stage being loaded, I looked around for a team, walking the streets in vain till at last I got a seat on a coal wagon and rode 16 miles. The driver did not know my brother-in-law whom I was going to see. At last we came to a railroad that was only built last summer and so knew I was not far off, although still a little uneasy as the sun was going down and there was no house for miles. All at once I saw a wheat team making for the siding to load wheat into a car, there being no elevators constructed along this line yet. I jumped from the coal wagon, grabbed my grip and made for the siding and found my friend, Mr. Jonas Shantz, inside the car. I felt myself the luckiest man in the world.

I stayed with them over a week. One day my brother-in-law took me for a drive over the country when we saw some threshing gangs at work—to me a remarkable sight. On Friday Mr. Mose Shantz drove across the lines into Uncle Sam's domains, to a little village called Richburg, a thriving and lively village of North Dakota. This being a Prohibition State there was no hotel, so we got our dinners—a very good one—in a private boarding house in a little room 12 feet square. We saw a terrific prairie fire which burned acres and acres of oats and barley.

I forgot to say that while farther west I took a trip from Calgary to the National Park at Banff, in the Rockies, and saw the famous buffaloes, bear, etc., in their wild and untamed state.

I expect to start for home on Thursday.
Yours truly,
ANDREW AXT.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

As far as reported the two election trials, commenced on Wednesday of last week indicate that there are still a few politicians left in Ontario who need watching.

It is a pleasure to report that the coal mines are now starting to work for "all they are worth." It is expected that by the first of December hard coal will be readily obtainable at the old prices.

The agriculturalists, into whose laps about every good thing has been falling this year, were not left out even in the coal strike which has just ended. The wood which was last winter, and for which the mud price was expected, suddenly rose in value until some of the panic-stricken towns sent out emissaries to buy it as it stood in the woods piled at a price $1.50 in advance of what the farmers expected to get for it after they had gone to the trouble of hauling it to market.

Everyone likes to see the farmers doing well, knowing they represent the backbone of the nation's business; but with a long, cold winter just in front our rural friends must excuse the urban rejoicings over the prospects of being able to keep the house warm without mortgaging it.

Mr. J. S. Williams, president of the Berlin Beet Sugar Co., has been an indefatigable worker for the establishment of that industry, and to his efforts, more than to any one person's, is due the praise for its successful accomplishment. At the Tarte banquet, held in Berlin on the occasion of the recent celebration, Mr. Williams made a magnificent speech, including a brief sketch of the rapid growth of Berlin and Waterloo, and a resume the past year's operations with regard to sugar beets. We take the liberty of publishing some of the concluding part of his speech, which is full of information:

"Canada used last year 391,358,959 pounds of sugar, costing $9,000,000. It did not produce a single pound of this. And of the amount imported but 50,000 pounds were refined sugars. The balance came into Canada in the form of brown sugar and was refined here. It would require 32 factories like ours to produce Canada's sugar. The State of Michigan has constructed 13 sugar factories during the past five years at a cost of well nigh $8,000,000, using 600,000 tons beets, for which farmers received nearly $3,000,000; 27,000 men are employed in the fields, 5,678 in the factories, who receive $900,376. We would have to produce two and a half times as much sugar to supply the Dominion. Why should we buy sugars from countries that purchase little from us or that discriminate against us? (Applause.) It is natural that people who import raw sugar should look askance at the beet sugar industry. But when raw sugar is imported only 13 to 20 cents per 100 pounds is expended in refining it. On the other hand $2.50 per hundred pounds will be expended among Canadian workmen on every 100 pounds of beet sugar manufactured in Canada. (Applause.) It must be evident that the industry is one meriting adequate protection, and I hope our Members of Parliament will stand up for Canadian beet sugar. Not only will the industry benefit the factory, the grower of beets and his help, the lime and coke dealer, but the machine men, the foundrymen and the business men. This year there were 500 or 600 school children employed in the beet fields and not an idle man to be found within a radius of fifteen miles. What a fine thing it would be for Canada if all its own sugar were produced in Canada by Canadian money, labor and enterprise."

Not much is being said these days about the Wellesley extension of the electric road from Berlin, but the work of organization is going steadily on. Prominent Berlinites, assisted by ex-Warden Walter, are pushing the matter and getting the difficult preliminaries into shape for bringing before the people. An engineer has gone (or is about to go) over the land between the two points to select a feasible route and estimate cost. Plans for dividing the expense of building the road are being prepared, so that it is quite possible that the scheme will be ready for the electors this winter—perhaps before Christmas.

AN EXPERIMENT.

For the next few weeks—during the balance of the dull harvest season—we purpose issuing the Maple Leaf in its present 4-page form with a view of getting the feeling of our subscribers as to a local paper being devoted to home news without regard to the size of sheet. If the experiment meets with general approval the price of the paper will be lowered and arrangements made for low-priced clubbing rates with Canada's big newspapers. We will be glad to get the candid opinions of our subscribers on this matter.

There has been talk on the streets lately of forming a joint stock company in Wellesley to build a curling, skating and hockey rink. The expense would be heavy but the venture ought to be a profitable one. The young people would certainly hail the move with delight, while the Band would welcome it as a revenue producer in winter.

A large number in this neighborhood witnessed the total eclipse of the moon last Thursday evening. A scurry of rapidly moving clouds threatened to spoil the sight in its early stages, but they soon disappeared and left the sky in perfect condition for witnessing the rare event. The peculiar blood-red color of the moon as it crossed the space occupied by the earth's shadow formed a spectacle which will not soon be forgotten by those who saw it. A pretty sight was also witnessed a few evenings later when the moon occulted Aldebaran, in the constellation called Taurus, fairly running over that bright star.

The lifting of sugar beets is in full swing in this district. Some of the beets are good while in other fields they are small. On the whole the crop is satisfactory.

HOCKEY.—Our local hockey team will no doubt be in line again this coming winter. Steps should be taken to encourage this sport here as no doubt games could be arranged with surrounding villages, a good team placed here, and thus another laurel be added to our already busy town.

Mr. John Ertel, of St. Clements, has secured a good situation near Hawkesville, and left for the latter place on Monday.

He Was Dead.
The English papers tell this story of an incident in a revision court:
A certain person who figured on the register was objected to by one of the agents on the ground that he was dead. The revising barrister declined to accept the assurance, however, and demanded conclusive testimony on the point.
Thereupon the agent of the other side rose and gave corroborative evidence in question.
"And pray, sir, how do you know the man's dead?" demanded the barrister.
"Well," was the reply, "I don't know. It's very difficult to prove."
"As I suspected," returned the late barrister. "You don't know whether he's dead or not."
The barrister glanced triumphantly around the court. His expression gradually underwent a change as the witness coolly continued:
"I was saying, sir, that I don't know whether he is dead or not, but I do know this—they buried him about a month ago on suspicion."

Donkeys in Mexico.
There are two classes of donkeys in Mexico—one with four feet and the other with two. Each is a kind of competitor of the other. Sometimes they are partners. They are both bearers of burdens and the subjects of brutality. Everywhere you see the donkey loaded down with sacks of ore, baskets of dirt, cans of milk, sacks of water, and you find his driver very often loaded in the same way. These combinations sometimes go two by two, and sometimes there will be a band of ten to fifty thus loaded, coming down the mountains with ore, charcoal or wood, corn or whatever may be needed in the villages or cities. It is indeed a medieval life in middle and southern Mexico.

The Way of the Frontier.
The way of civilization in a new land passes comprehension. Its motto seems to be "Hail first; there is time afterward to save." Civilization is a good deal like a wild, full blooded boy—it must first sow wild oats, waste its patrimony, disgrace its antecedents; then it is ready to begin the serious work of life. That has been the history of the range country—swift ruin for thirty or forty years, with a resulting wreck that it will require a century of hard work, perseverance and self control to save.—Ray Stannard Baker in Century.

Siamese Tobacco.
The best tobacco in Siam is grown at Petchabun. It is planted in open fields near the town after the floods in September or October, and the first crop, or tip, which is considered the best quality, is gathered about February and the last about the beginning of May. The very best quality cannot be purchased, as it is reserved for the special use of the king and sent down to Bangkok, where it is smoked in the palace and distributed to the chief officers of state.

Cemetery Monuments.
What is more sadly comic or incongruous than the imposing medley of stone and marble in a great cemetery? The towering columns loom over the resting places of such small citizens. The "dove of peace" alights where it would never have brooded of its free will. The guardian angel bends over the victim's tomb, and the medallion bits of slate denote the graves of many saintly and gifted pilgrims.

A Chaperon Wait.
A laborer applied to the foreman at some building's workshop for a job: "Can yes do anything for a poor fellow at all in the shape we are work?"
Foreman—Oh, yes, anything the day. Can buck again. There is a drunken carpenter workin' on the top, and Oh'n'wally! livery mint'll he falls and gets killed.

WEDDING SUPERSTITIONS.
The bride should not fall to shed a few tears on her wedding day. It is an omen of good luck in the future.
It is unlucky for the bride to enter the church before the ceremony at one door and leave after the ceremony by another door.
The bride should always cut the first piece of her wedding cake and pour out the first glass of wine for her guests if there are not too many.
If the bride drops her handkerchief on the wedding day and the bridegroom picks it up, it is a sign that in the future he will play second fiddle.
It is said to be unlucky to the shoes to any part of the carriage in which the bride and the bridegroom go away, but it is lucky to throw an old shoe after the bride as she enters the carriage.
In leaving the church the bride will do well to place her right foot foremost if she wishes to be happy, healthy, etc. In the future, and she should always be the first to call her husband by name.
After the wedding breakfast and reception the bride should be careful to throw away and lose all the pins. If there are any about her. The bridesmaids should not keep the pins themselves or they will retard their chances of marriage.
