F. HOLWELL, Clerk.

A very pretty house wedding took place at the residence of Mr. George Wilhelm, of Poole, on Wednesday afternoon of last week. When his second daughter, Miss Ida, was united in marriage to Mr. Henry Schade, a prosperous young farmer of Hey township. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. J. L. Morlock under an arch of evergreens, and the bride looked charming in white silk on train, with a graceful folt of white silk and valenciennes lace. She was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Tilda Lieneweber, of Tavistock, who was gowned in white organdie, with insertions of lace, and carried pink roses. Miss Ella Wing, of Berlin, played Lohengrins bridal chorale. Mr. Israel Wilhelm, brother of the bride, acted as groomsmen. After the ceremony had been performed and congratulations extended to the young couple, the guests, about 150 in number, were invited to supper. A very large array of presents attested to the popularity of the bride. Friends were present from Berlin, Waterloo, Tavistock, Shakespear, New Hamburg and Wellesley. The happy couple left on Monday afternoon for Hay, where they will dwell in future.—Run.

The Toronto World of Wednesday contained the following as regards the sugar beet outlook:—

There will be two factories producing beet sugar in the province this year—one at Berlin, and the other at Wallaceburg. Last year there were four, the factories at Dresden and Wiarston ceasing operations for two reasons. The former was planted too close to the Wallaceburg concern; acreage of beets sown was not large enough to sustain two large factories, and the smaller concern is being removed to Illinois. The Wiarston company found business unprofitable owing to the limited acreage, and it has gone out of business with a considerable loss.

From the section in which it is located the Berlin factory it is expected that the acreage sown will exceed that of last year by at least 1200 acres. Farmers are sowing smaller lots this year, as the scarcity of help a year ago prevented the growers from reaping the full fruits of their labors.

Galt, May 26th, An old and respected resident of Galt died this morning in the person of Mary Clark, North Water Street, relict of the late James Allen. She was found dead in bed. On Wednesday she was about as usual and this morning she was up at an early hour, and after a time retired to rest. Life was extinct when she was found.

Abel Walper, former owner of the walper House, died suddenly at his residence in Berlin at nine thirty-five o'clock a. m. Thursday. Deceased was 71 years of age on May 10th. He had been ailing for several years and was quite ill several times during the past few weeks, but for some days had been considerably better and his death came quite unexpectedly, being due to heart failure. When he complained of severe pains Dr. Hoyt was hastily summoned but Mr. Walper died before the physician could arrive.

It should be born in mind that there is a law against the spraying of trees while they are in blossom. The law was made for the purpose of protecting the bees, which at this time of year depend upon the blossoms of trees for their supply of honey. A prominent bee keeper informed the Exeter Advocate on Tuesday that a number of his bees had already been poisoned as a result of spraying of trees by some person or persons in town. The past winter has been very hard on the little workers, from 60 to 75 per cent having been killed, so that to lose the remaining hive would be a misfortune indeed. Fruit growers should, therefore, keep within the law, and postpone their spraying until the blossoms have fallen. The effect of spraying upon the fruit is equally as good, if not better, when the work is left until the blossom has disappeared.

The Test of Expertness. "Is he really such an expert steno-grapher?"

"Expertness is no name for it. Why, just for practice he actually took down a church seating circle discussion without missing a word."

Prevention. Henley—Did you ever hear how Midge escaped a divorce suit?

Billings—No. How was it?
 Henley—Simply by not marrying the lady. Prevention is better than cure, you know.

The rattles of British American Indians are frequently made in the form of birds or small animals.

A Yukon Exhibit. The Yukon is becoming conscious of its attractions and already appreciates the value of advertising. The Dawson News says: Yukon Territory is entitled to special notice in the Dominion grant at St. Louis for an exhibit. The idea to have an exhibit of Yukon Territory products at the World's Fair at St. Louis is believed by Elgin Robb, one of the promoters, to be one of the best schemes ever evolved for the advertising of the Yukon, and he feels that the Dominion Government certainly will lead its aid.

"The Yukon, I estimate, can make creditable showing with less than $50,000. Perhaps $15,000 would make a fine exhibit.

"The question of money for the Yukon Territory exhibit will first be taken up with the Dominion Government soon. The Yukon Horticultural Society has delegated me to confer with Ottawa on the matter. I may go to Ottawa about the 15th. I shall press the matter, and hope for success.

"Many fine exhibits of grains, grasses, potatoes and fruits raised in the Yukon, specimens of gold from different creeks, woods, coal, mammoth and other prehistoric bones, Indian collections and the like will help to make the exhibit interesting."

Tree Truss. Public interest in tree planting increases as a result of the missionary work done by civic organizations. Information supplied for taking care of and preserving trees has shown to householders and property owners, how they may invest little money in this way, and derive lasting profits of several kinds. It is unnecessary to illustrate these benefits. Every one who has seen a grove or park, this is a tree-gro avenue, appreciates the advantages which are obtainable by adding the beauties of nature to the artificial character of the town. A town without trees is dull and uninviting.

In New Zealand a red-haired woman is considered as on the right road to paradise.

Care of Puppies. Puppies after weaning will keep strong and healthy and will grow fat if fed only on fresh buttermilk and corn bread, with soup instead of the buttermilk twice a week, till they are five or six months old. Do not feed them sweet milk. Keep the puppies where they can get plenty of exercise. Do not crowd them. Arrange their kennels so that they can go in and out of their sleeping quarters. If fed in the same vessels, some dogs get more than their fair share of food and lose their manners also. Fasten a number of chains where they eat at such distances that no one can reach the other; then feed in individual pans. Give little medicine and plenty of exercise, and you will then have strong, healthy dogs. An hour's run every day in the year in the fields and woods, weather permitting, is essential to good health.—Outing.

Suffering Bore the Temper. "In all my experience as a physician," said Dr. E. Weir Mitchell, the nerve specialist, in a lecture, "I have not seen more than a dozen men or women who have been improved morally by long continued suffering. Acute illness and illness which brings the patient close to death often has a beneficial effect upon the disposition, but I cannot agree with the assertion which we frequently hear made in the pulpit that suffering is usually the means of refining; I have seen a few isolated cases in which this was so, but it is not the rule by any means. The tonic invalid is almost invariably selfish and peevish, and it is a hard task to find a nurse who can stand the strain of such a service."

That That. There is one word in the English language which can appear six times consecutively in a sentence and make correct English. To illustrate: A boy wrote on the blackboard, "The man that lies does wrong."

The teacher objected to the word "that," so the word "he" was substituted. And yet it must be evident to the reader, for all that, that "that" that that teacher objected to was right after all.

Had It Good Points. "That medicinal armor must have been very uncomfortable," said a visitor at the museum. "Yes," answered the man with darned clothes, "but there was one satisfaction about it. A man could always take down a suit of it in entire confidence that the moths hadn't got into it."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Waterloo is getting to be a pre-eminent sporting country. It has at least four base-ball, and at least as many foot-ball leagues within its borders, doing valiant battles for the district championships.

The news was telegraphed last Saturday evening that the attempt to re-enter the proceedings to quash the Berlin electric railway by-law had been disallowed at Osgoode hall, Toronto. This means (unless some one else enters a protest before June 10th) that the Berlin by-law becomes law. It is impossible to get official information just now but the impression is voiced from high quarters that organization will soon be effected for building, at least to Wellesley, and many think the line will be completed this year.

New Hamburg is having an unusually successful race meet this week. On account of the wet weather the Hamilton races had to be withdrawn, with the consequence that some six or eight horses were entered at New Hamburg. As this is the first meet of the season there is the great uncertainty as to the speediest horses, which tends to make the sport more enjoyable to the visitors.

The beet sugar industry is gradually getting a firm hold upon the farmers. The acreage this year is better than ever before, although still a long ways from the capacity of the Berlin factory. The fact that sugar beets prove to be the very best of root feed for stock owned by a farmer from loss by reason of any rejected beets at the factory.

The United States government has discriminated against Canadians in tariff to such an extent as to practically prohibit the competition of Canadian cattle at the St. Louis exposition. Perhaps this is done to keep up the spirits of the American farmers who are "beaten out of their boots" every time they come up against Canadian competitors in everything they raise or produce, except possibly oranges, bananas and sweet potatoes.

The Galt horse show is getting to be a Canadian instead of a local institution. Last week Galt was crowded with visitors from all over the Dominion and the exhibition is reported to be one of the finest ever held on the continent.

Mr. J. W. McKinley, a well-known Linwood boy, for many years a ranchman in Br. Columbia writes to the Maple Leaf as follows: "In your issue of May 26th, in an article under the heading 'Camels in British Columbia,' you refer to Senator Reid, of Cariboo, as having recovered from his late illness. I am sorry to have to correct you by stating that the highly esteemed and lamented Senator passed away more than a month ago. I have known the late Senator Reid for many years. He was one of nature's noblemen and will be greatly missed in Cariboo where he solved many of the problems which confronted the pioneers of that district. You were also in error about the camels. They were not shot after being liberated, as stated in your article. An act was passed prohibiting their use on the Cariboo Road on account of their frightening pack trains of horses and raising them to stampede. The camels were then fattened and butchered, and as many old pioneers may, 'made good beef.'"

TORONTO'S FAMOUS FIRES.

How the Recent Staggering Blow to the Wholesale Section Has Stirred Up the Remnant of Men.

Toronto has been struck many a staggering blow by the fire King, but the pride of her merchant princes was never so humbled as in the fire of the 19th April, 1904. A large part of the wholesale district has been destroyed as only fire can destroy, millions of dollars' worth of goods have gone up in smoke or lie crumpled ruins behind the skeleton walls, but even in the face of this disaster, the worst in our civic history, we are conscious that we have much to be thankful for. Not a life was lost, nor was a man seriously injured.

Some Early Fires. Among the earlier fires in this city was that of Good's foundry, situated on the north-west corner of Queen and Yonge streets, says The Mail and Empire. The structure was almost completely destroyed, and many citizens must recall how, on that occasion, the fire, which was driven was hampered by the condition of Yonge street at the time, the thoroughfare being torn up for the laying of a drain. It was Good's foundry that the first Canadian automobile was built—the famous Lady Elgin. The Dickie and Neil fire was another noted conflagration of a generation ago. Again it was a foundry that was ablaze. This firm made the narrow gauge cars for the old Toronto, Grey and Bruce, and it was a common sight for the passenger to observe these cars standing on Phoebe and Soho streets. In the early days the old Iron Block, as it was known, was the scene of several of the city's buildings, standing just west of the Customs House on Front street, was supposed to be fireproof. In its construction iron had been substituted for wood wherever possible and the building was believed that the place was no more likely to be burned than a stove. It was declared fireproof, and was viewed with awe and respect until the first fire. (The fire followed, and soon the celebrated Iron Block had become a hissing and a byword for its pretensions. The iron proved no good for that wood, for it curled up and cracked under the extreme heat, affording no protection at all for the contents. After several costly experiments, the last of which cost $400,000, the Iron Block was wiped out.

Explosion and Catastrophe. Coming down through the years we note the Grand Opera House fire, where three lives were lost; the fire in The Mail Office, May 24, 1885, and the great Esplanade fire of Dec. 8, the same year. This, like most of Toronto's great business losses, began at night, and had painted a picture of ruin and desolation before the sun lit up the scene in the morning. The Esplanade fire was a great spectacle. Wood was the fuel, whether in sheds, wharves, or piled lumber. For miles about the sky seemed ablaze, and people in the country thought that surely the Queen City was being wiped out. The money lost was estimated at $350,000. For many years the famous Esplanade fire held all Toronto records. In only one sense was it insignificant—the actual structural loss was nothing. It was on Feb. 14, 1890, when Toronto University was laid in ruins, that this fact was recalled. This beautiful building was the pride of all Toronto, and its loss was perhaps the greatest shock citizens, as a body, ever received. It is difficult to believe that a single exploding lamp could be the cause of the magnificent structure's doom. Built as it was of stone and brick, slate and hardwood, it burned like a furnace, and so quickly that those responsible for the disaster were hard pressed to escape with their lives.

The Ill-Fated Fire. In 1895, within a couple of months of each other, occurred three fires which destroyed three lives and more than two million dollars' worth of property. The first of these was The Globe fire on Jan. 6, in which brave Bob Bowery, one of the finest men who ever fought a fire, was killed. The walls of the old Globe building were thin and flimsy, and one of them suddenly collapsed, bearing down under it young Bowery, who was rescued in a dying condition. He passed away in the hospital a few hours later, murmuring, "Boys I'm going." Chief Ardagh and Charles Speedy, caught in a trap in the second building south of The Globe, had to leap for their lives, and their injuries were such that they never recovered. The McKinley building was destroyed in this fire, helping to bring the monetary loss up to $775,000. At this fire, the inadequacy of the water pressure was held responsible for the rapid spread of the flames, while a high wind made the firemen's task doubly hard. On the following Thursday the great incendiary fire occurred in the Osgoode Building, on Balliol street. The memorable feature of this fire was the thrilling leap for life of Mrs. Caven, the invalid wife of the contractor, who, from a height of ninety feet, sprang through a window, shot downward, striking some telephone wires, and rebounding, fell safely into a net. Her nurse slid down a wire for some distance, and then leaped into the net, so did her husband.

Passing over the ill-favored John Eaton fire, the fatal Hess fire, the McKinley fire, and that of Herman, Kent and Co., we come upon the disaster by which the lives of five pal-any persons were lost. This fire occurred on July 10, 1902, in the old street railway yards on Front street, occupied at the time by P. McIntosh and Co. As is the almost invariable rule, the men met their death under falling walls, and not by burning or suffocation, Adam Kerr, David See, Walter Colliard, Harry Clarke, and Fred O. Russell perished. This is a record, in a rough way, of Toronto's great and fatal fires. In the amount of property destroyed they sink into nothingness in the presence of the latest rain.

Is Great Difference. Blifer—My asked: Here's a story of a man going to marry a woman he doesn't know! Epeck—That's nothing. The only difference between him and the others who marry is that this fellow isn't deceived to the point of thinking he knows her.

Little to Do So. "We had known each other slightly," said Miss Wright, "but never to speak to until one day while out skating I fell down quite over him, and—" "Ah, yes," replied Miss Peppery, "that broke the ice, of course."

His C. O. D. Delivery. "You delivered your speech in a manner that was most timely and effective," "Yes," answered the political orator; "I had to be particular about the delivery of that speech. It was a C. O. D. transaction."

Effect of the Sun on Monuments. The perpendicularity of a monument is visibly affected by the rays of the sun. On every sunny day a tall monument has a regular swing leading away from the sun. This phenomenon is due to the greater expansion of the side on which the rays of the sun fall. A pendulum placed inside, say, Nelson's column, in Trafalgar square, would be found to describe on every clear day an ellipse of nearly half an inch in diameter.—English Mechanic.

The Giant's Organ. One of the most interesting features of the Giant's organ is "the giant's organ." This huge "instrument" consists of a group of pillars of various lengths set apart on the side of the main cliff. The larger columns being in the center and the smaller ones tapering off on either side after the fashion of organ pipes admirably sustain the idea which the name "giant's organ" conveys.

Thought Through a Teahouse. "Did young Mr. Riches refer to the subject of love and marriage?" asked his confidential friend. "No," said the former girl. "If he had referred to it, I should not have let him get away. He only alluded to it."—Exchange.

Speech. Bywater—Should you say that phrase was taken from me? Cottle—I don't know, but the world wouldn't care if it did.

An over-crowded stage and every available horse in town is carrying our citizens to the circus at Berlin to-day, while dozens who cannot get rigs are sorry because "Mrs. S. railroad" is not running yet.

It is expected that Hawkesville, Crosshill and Wellesley will shortly have arrangements completed for a foot-ball league series of home-and-home games. These three appear to be pretty evenly matched and the three-cornered battle for the township championship ought to be an interesting one.

There is a prosperous, well educated, scientific farmer living within four miles of this village who was never in Berlin or Waterloo, only twice to Linwood, and never but once on a railway train. His farm, buildings, machinery, and stock are models and no one would guess from his conversation that he has been such a stay-at-home. Guess who he is!

The funeral of little Arnold Lochner, last Sunday, was very largely attended. The floral tributes were splendid, showing the deep sympathy of the public to the bereaved pastor and his family. We are pleased to report that the other twin-son has improved much during the past week and his recovery is now expected. Master Eugene Lochner returned from his studies in Milwaukee in time to be present at the funeral.

A team of gray horses belonging to Reiner Bros. & Co. had a narrow escape opposite the Maple Leaf office yesterday afternoon. The embarrassment at that point is very steep and high, and in dumping a load of earth the team was backed up a little too far so that the heavily loaded wagon started down the bluff, carrying the horse along, a distance of about 25 feet, to the bottom. The animals managed to keep on their feet during the swift backward journey and by good luck escaped injury.

At the annual meeting, held last Thursday, the Wellesley Branch of the Women's Institute elected the following officers:

President—Mrs. H. Hostetter.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. H. K. Forler.
3d Vice Pres.—Mrs. J. W. Green.
Sec. Treas.—Miss L. Bellinger.
Directors—Mrs. J. Hill, Mrs. W. Cleghorn, Mrs. E. Ratz, Miss L. Berdux.

Members will please note that their baskets should be ready by 1 o'clock next Monday when rigs will call for them.

Mr. A. E. Ratz, of Tavistock, was a business caller in this village on Monday afternoon.

There is to be a meeting of councillors and contractors on the spot this (Thursday) morning to settle the question of building a cement arch to replace the worn out bridge just north of the School in this village.

Mrs. Hill, accompanied by her children, left for her home at Spokane, Washington Territory this week, after a visit extending several months at the home of her parents here. Her father, Mr. J. G. Reiner, accompanied the party as far as St. Paul, Minn., while on his way to Manitoba, and the Northwest on a business trip.

On Tuesday evening a team of foot-ballists from this village drove to Hawkesville for a match with the boys there. The game proved quite interesting and even, ending in a draw. Ours had the home team had, if anything, the better of the play. The visitors were royally entertained, and the referee, Mr. E. G. Winn, gave eminent satisfaction.

Reiner Bros. & Co.'s stock of spring millinery is very complete. Beautiful trimmed hats, Chic, ready-to-wear, lovely plumes, flowers trimmings, ribbons, etc. At moderate prices. Do not delay—going fast. The extensive assortment of new dress goods waists are worthy of inspection. In warm weather goods there are dress muslins, lawn dainties, chambrays, etc. Full stock in all departments. See adv. next week.

The new bowling lawn is now finished and seeded. The ground comprises a strip of about 130 x 60 feet and is as smooth and level as the spirit-level—and sand-paper—could make it. Messrs. Wm. and P. L. Hogg, and Jas. and Alex. McDonald did the work and have reason to be proud of their undertaking. A large bowling club has been organized, and it is expected there will be several strong rinks here next season.

HAMPSTEAD.

June 2d, 1901

The Hampstead Branch of the Women's Institute held its special summer meetings on Friday, June 3rd, and the members are much gratified in being able to say that, of their kind, those meetings were of the most successful and interesting. There were two gatherings, one in the afternoon on the lawn of Mr. Wm. Hart, at which ladies only were in attendance; another in the evening, at the school, for the general public. At both meetings highly instructive addresses were given by Miss Carter, of Guelph, and Miss Shepherd, of Ingersoll, who has been associated for the past two years with the teaching staff of Alma College at Mt. Thomas, where she had charge of The Domestic Science Department.

At the afternoon meeting Miss Carter addressed the ladies on the subject: "Sowing in the home," and threw out many useful hints in the art of needle-work. The remainder of the time was taken up by Miss Shepherd in giving practical demonstration on the preparation of gruel, cocoa, omelet and fried fruits, also on the cooking of meats. Afterwards those present partook of a sumptuous lunch on the lawn.

The evening session was well attended, the numbers present making, on the authority of the delegates, the second largest assemblage they had addressed in the district. County Councillor Alex. McDonald performed the duties of chairman in his usual able way, and was enabled to enumerate the numbers of a varied program, which consisted of choruses, readings and drills, interspersing the addresses. Two addresses were given by the delegates. Miss Shepherd spoke on "The kitchen as an Academy," and her discourse bristled with good points for every housekeeper. Miss Carter chose for her theme "Courtesy in the home," in which she often "hit the nail on the head" and gave some good, wholesome advice.

The Hampstead Branch is to be congratulated on the success of the meetings, and for the fact that the ladies are progressive and zealous in maintaining a branch of work from which invaluable good is derived, not only to themselves, but also to the future owners of the land.
