EDITORIAL NOTES.

The voter's list of Wellesley township for the present year was delivered to the clerk last week, and that gentleman took occasion to highly complement it from a typographical standpoint. The list contains the names of 1364 qualified voters, of which 1169 are in part I, 123 in part II, and 72 in part III. There are in the township 603 persons qualified to serve as jurors this year. The new polling subdivision, No. 7, which was erected last winter to relieve the pressure on the rapidly increasing Wellesley poll, has a list of 96 names, with their polling place at Gildner's Corners. Wellesley still remains the largest poll, however, with a total list of 247 voters.

The Wellesley township voter's list shows the personal contempt in which the farmers of the township hold the statute labor system. In former years the list contained from 300 to 500 "farmer's sons," each of whom had to put in one day's statute labor outside of the number charged against the farm upon which they resided. This year there are only five reported as farmer's sons, and all of these the sons of tenants, the balance being given the qualification of "owner" in the list. The township thus loses statute labor to the amount of at least a year's steady work for one man, the farmers evidently believing it not worth the extra day under the present system. On the other hand the large expenditures made by the council upon the roads and bridges are cheerfully paid by the taxpayers every year, thus proving that they are ready to meet the council in any measure to improve upon the out-of-date statute labor system. Good roads are needed, and the people are ready to pay the price; it only remains for this year's council, or some near future energetic Board to take hold of the matter, to prove that the taxpayers are willing—and anxious—for the change.

The Maple Leaf suggests that the council call a meeting of pathmasters and other interested ratopapers in the township hall, at which Provincial Road Inspector Campbell be invited to speak, and at that the feeling of the farmers be taken upon a measure for modern methods of road making and repairing.

"Busy Berlin" stands a show of being soon known as "Backward Berlin," or even "Busted Berlin," if its officials do not take a better grasp of the opportunities it has for growth and prosperity. Berlin just now has two electric road schemes knocking at its doors, by which the product of hundreds of the richest farms in Ontario would be placed on the county town's market, to cheapen living for its inhabitants. And Berlin treats these important schemes with what almost appears to be a fanatical indifference. Had Berlin grasped the Wellesley extension with the energy to which it was entitled that great feeder would now have been a practically accomplished fact, instead of there being an oven chance that the wealth of this district will be poured into Guelph and Stratford by the probable spur from Hawkeville to Stratford. Only the other day Mr. W. H. Breithaupt, perhaps the most successful electric railway manager in the Dominion, approached the Berlin council for a franchise over a short distance of street in order that he might float an organization to extend an electric road north into Woolwich township. His proposition did not demand a gift or bonus, in fact he offered to pay his way. But the council turned him down, and that project, which looked like a wealth-producer for the town, may now be lost. There is an old saying "whom the gods intend to destroy they first make mad," but we hope the county town will recover itself before inestimable damage is done.

Stratford has again been worshipping its idol. This time it remitted about $8,000 worth of taxes per annum for ten years to the G. T. R. car shops.

Wellesley township's "inner circles" are at present earnestly discussing the question of the special railway tax caused by the carrying of the by-law last January. It is debatable as to the liability of the Linwood section to raise their first annual installment—$482.98—this year, but there is no doubt that the South Wellesley section is bound by the by-law to provide for a deposit in the Western Bank of $1103.76 to represent this year's installment towards the payment of the proposed debenture. It so happens that there is a large surplus on hand from last year's township taxes which might be made available for this purpose and thus avoid taking up the special tax for this year, until it becomes absolutely known whether the bonds will be called for or not. But the councillors will naturally object to this. They are assuming a large expense in the building of the McTavish bridge and desire to complete it without making an extra tax as was the case with the building of the Riser bridge. Some of them are using the argument that this year's surplus could not be used for this railway deposit because the money belongs to the whole township instead of to the railway section involved in the special tax. This argument is somewhat weak, however, from the fact that it would only be as a temporary loan for a year and would be drawing interest. No one blames the council for trying to keep themselves in funds, yet they owe it to the ratopayers to avoid, if possible, a special tax until it is actually necessary. A solution of the difficulty might be arrived at by depositing in the bank sufficient funds from the township's land improvement money to cover the first installment. But we doubt if there is an absolute necessity for raising this fund at all until such time as the debentures are sold. Wellesley council has strained legal technicalities before without disaster, and could risk it now in a good cause.

Who's Your Tailor?

A pair fitting suit of Clothes may sometimes cost less money over the counter, but you won't get the comfort or the value out of it that you get from a suit made specially to fit you.

An $10 outfit, that you become disgusted with and throw away inside of three months is not as cheap as the $12 outfit suit that you cling to with pleasure for a year or more because it was built to fit you.

Well, just now I have some snaps in cloth that I can make up into the "wear-or-more" pleasurable fit, and yet sell at just about the "three-months" price.

Just hitch up, drive in to Linwood and see me.

What's the Price To-Day?

The farmer who already knows the market prices for grain and produce need fear no combination of buyers when he goes to market.

How often the buyers "get together" on prices every farmer knows.

How often has a farmer sold his grain in one town for a couple of cents less than the buyers were paying in a neighboring market?

It pays to keep posted on the markets.

The Toronto Daily Star has the best market reports of any city paper. It has men who do nothing else but study the markets—who give it all their time and attention, and you can get all this information in the Star every weekday for a year and your own local paper as well for $2.20.

If you save a cent a bushel on only two loads of grain by knowing the prices it will about pay the price, won't it? Besides think of being in touch with the world's news every day.
