A witty write-up of a hockey match at Niagara Falls, Ont., in which Carleton Green figured on the printers side. Taxen from the

Down at the River Front Rink last night, between the rafters and the ice, an aggregation of a leged beckey players called from the ranks of the Fourth Estate, otherwards on the spot "The Oakdaies." Alas! for the printers. They went down and out in jug-time and will spend the rest of the hockey season playing marbles. They are now open for challenges from any bunch between the ages of 5 and 9 at "Bigring" "Long-taw, or "How many in the Hand?"

In the first half the printers second a goal and then fell on each other's necks and wept for joy. It didn.; matter if King the lucky scorer had gone headlong through the goal after the puck and carried the goal-tender with him—it was a point, and their emotion was great, the balance of the first half was spent looking for the puck, which had gone through the Printer's goal several times and then retired for a rest. The soure stood 1 to several in favor of the Oakdales. In the second half Vannatter had the proud distinction of letting everything go right past him. The rest of the Frinters, outside of Conley, who really played a star game, could not move fast enough to keep warm so they relieved each other by spells at the stove in the dressing room. Green was pushed up a star was the country of the game some miserable wrethers had about sight years steady practice they would, no doubt, improve seen. Just now some of them show a few symptoms of hockey, but it will never become epidemic in the aggregation. At the close of the game some miserable wrethes at up a basket of lunch that had been carefully put up for the typos. Final secre 20 to 2 against the print-shop people.
