TWIN-CITY WAKING UP.

BERLIN AND WATERLOO GETTING ANXIOUS ABOUT THEIR NORTHERN TRADE.

A campaign is being started by the Waterloo Daily Citizen and the Berlin Daily News-Record to stir the people of the Twin-City up to the necessity for prompt action to prevent the loss of their northern trade which threatens to be deflected by the new Guelph-Goderich line. Last Friday the Citizen published a strong, able appeal, and the article was followed this week by the following which appeared in Tuesday's Berlin News-Record:

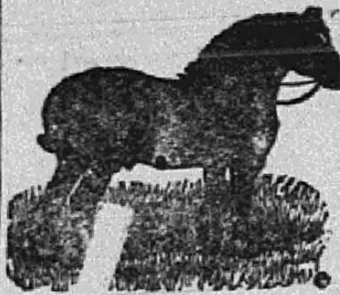

The importance of a railway connecting Berlin and Waterloo with Wellesley and Linwood, cannot be emphasized too strongly, and it is surprising that the County Towns are so blind to their own interests that they take no action in the matter whatever. In a conversation with some of the leading business men of Wellesley some time ago, the writer became pretty well acquainted with the attitude of the people in that district. They want railway connection with Waterloo and Berlin, and want it as quickly as possible. They prefer a railway in our direction to any other, though they have an opportunity to get G. T. R. connection with Baden, or C. P. R. connection with Stratford.

This being the case, are the two towns going to let their cry go unheeded. The Wellesley Maple Leaf has repeatedly pointed out the importance of a railway connecting their thriving little village with the County Town; also the advantage which Waterloo and Berlin would derive from such a line. There is a heavy freight traffic waiting for the railway, and we venture to predict that the first train would carry out a paying load. But the advantages to the two towns will be still greater. Waterloo and Berlin are bound to grow and the larger they grow, the more they will become dependent on the surrounding agricultural district for their supply of farm produce. Will it not be a matter of importance to the two towns to keep that district as large as possible? This being apparent, see what a railway to Linwood and Wellesley will do for the towns. It will open up direct communication with a large agricultural district that will be in a position to supply the needs for many years to come. The influence of this railway will not end at Linwood. That town is being connected with Listowel. This branch line will run for many miles through the township of Wallace, now largely inhabited by German people, most of whom have relatives living in this country. Their interests are akin to ours, and they will naturally be drawn in this direction, as our towns will have a stronger attraction for them than Stratford or Guelph, where they will find fewer of their countrymen. Business men and merchants of Waterloo, by a little judicious advertising, can do much to sway the bulk of the trade from that section this way, and those two towns will reap the benefit of an enterprise that should not be delayed another day.

The sympathy of Wellesley is with us, and for this reason we should do all in our power to assist them. We should lay the matter before the authorities of the Galt, Preston, Berlin and Waterloo railway, and press upon them the importance of taking immediate action. They should not wait until the advent of Niagara power. At a small outlay they could operate the road for a time with dummy engines, and change to electricity as soon as Niagara power can be secured. It will be a paying investment for them, and it cannot but be a paying investment for these two towns.

The Board of Trade of the two

LAME HORSES ARE POOR TRAVELLERS.

Did you ever drive a horse that went lame easily? Or one always afraid he wouldn't hear you say "whao?" Some horses can't travel because they are lame and others won't travel without a lot of urging. They are not the horses to buy. It's just the same with cream separators. Some are always out of fix, and some turn like corn shellers. Such separators don't have the up-to-date features found only in

THE SHARPLES TUBULAR

The many friends of Miss Bertha Lenhard, formerly of this place, will be interested to learn that she was recently united in marriage at Moose Jaw, to a Mr. Spilsbury, a prominent young land agent, of that city.

The Stratford Beacon and the Waterloo Chronicle last week published an item to the effect that another bank is needed in Wellesley. Of course our village is growing rapidly and in a few years there may be an opening for a second bank; but at present the Western is giving excellent satisfaction and ample accommodation, and it is doubtful if a second bank here just now would receive more than one or two accounts.

Word has reached here that Madeline, the youngest child of Mr. John Lenhard, who recently resided in Wellesley, died in the Moose Jaw, (Sask.) hospital a week ago Monday from appendicitis. Until this year, Madeline was a pupil of the school in this village and her death has caused much sorrow especially amongst the children here.

Biliousness and Constipation.

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable to me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally.—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by A. J. Saunders, druggist Wellesley.

Romeo, son of Mr. John Hispenberger, Bamberg, died on Monday after a very short illness with appendicitis. He was about 21 years old and had only been ill a couple of days. An operation was performed as a last resort, but it was too late and death was the result of peritonitis. Deceased was a well-known and a well-liked young man.

The students of the Berlin Business College readily find positions. This week Clive Sachs goes to the offices of M. Erb & Co., Ltd. and Ed. Wagenast to those of the Merchants' Rubber Co., Ltd. Other applications are on file that cannot be filled at this time.

The report of the standing of the pupils of the Wellesley public school will be published in our next issue.

The first effort of the social committee of the Y. P. S. C. E. last Thursday evening was very successful. The evening was both interesting and profitable, and a large number of members and friends of the society were present. The president, Mr. A. J. Saunders, presided over the meeting.

A Good Liniment.

When you need a good reliable liniment try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It has no superior for sprains and swellings. A piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm is superior to a plaster for a lame back or pains in the side or chest. It also relieves rheumatic pains and makes sleep and rest possible. For sale by A. J. Saunders, druggist Wellesley.

THE REV. IRL R. HICKS 1907 ALMANAC.

The Rev. Irl R. Hicks has been compelled by the popular demand to resume the publication of his well-known and popular Almanac for 1907. This splendid Almanac is now ready. For sale by news-dealers, or sent postpaid for 25 cents, by Word and Works Publishing Company 2201 Locust Street, St. Louis Mo., publishers of Word and Works, one of the best dollar monthly magazines in America. One Almanac goes with every subscription.

ROLLER MILL.

A new deal is on the tapis, and will likely be consummated within a few days, whereby the Wellesley roller mills will be again transferred. We are informed that the new proprietors will be well qualified practically, and will operate the property up to its full capacity. Meantime the mill is doing chopping, etc., every day; all kinds of grain is bought from the farmers and bran, shorts, feed, as well as flour, is being sold as required, so it looks as though the mill's recent adversity has been of little, if any, business injury to the village. We expect to be able to give further in regard to this matter particulars at an early date.
